

TOWNSHIP OF POTSDAM CEMETERY LISTINGS

POTSDAM, NEW YORK

By: KATELYN LEGACY

MAY 2016

Cemeteries Included:

This book contains cemetery listings for seventeen cemeteries in the township of Potsdam, New York. Fifteen of these cemeteries still physically survive while two have been relocated. The cemeteries included are as follows: Bacon/ Barker/ Hinman, Bayside, Bucks Bridge, Clark Burial Ground, Dayton/ Leete, Dailey Ridge/ Scotch Ridge, Elderkin, French/ Grant/ South Potsdam, Garfield, Hewittville, Liberty Knowles, New St. Mary's, Old St. Mary's, Parmeter, St. Andrew's Calvary, Union, and West Potsdam.

Source Base:

This listing contains several different sources including the work of Anne Cady and Adam Barnes, records from the Potsdam Public Museum, and information from the website Find A Grave. I have also included information that I have inferred based on my study of the records.

How this book is organized:

This compilation has been sorted by different categories. For the purposes of this physical copy, it is sorted alphabetically in the following order: last name, first name, middle name/ initial, maiden name, prefix/ suffix. The listing is color coded based on which source it was found in so that original records can be found if needed/ wanted. If you seek a different type of organization or dataset from this listing, the Museum has a digital copy that can be searched.

I have included some additional materials at the back of the book. These include the introductory pages of Bayside by Adam Barnes, information about the two moved cemeteries (Elderkin and Liberty Knowles), and information about cenotaphs (specifically those located in Bayside). Please note that the guide to Adam's binder does not apply directly to this book. Please see my guidelines to best use this book. In addition, this book includes a map of Potsdam with all of the cemeteries included in this compilation labeled. Note: the map was created by me and the resources are records owned by the Potsdam Public Museum and Adam Barnes.

- Please let us know if there is any incorrect information.

- Remember, some of the people who have stones are still alive so please do not use their information for anything other than genealogy research.

This comprehensive listing of cemetery records for the township of Potsdam was compiled by Katelyn Legacy, a museum studies minor intern from SUNY Potsdam, during the spring semester of 2016. The listings are alphabetical and contain records from seventeen cemeteries that have existed in the township of Potsdam. Records from several different sources have been compiled into one, comprehensive listing in hopes of making genealogical research easier by having the records all in one place. There is also a digital copy of this work available.

This new compilation of cemetery records is only to be used for genealogical research purposes. Any other use, including commercial use, must receive permission from Katelyn Legacy and the Potsdam Public Museum.

Potsdam Cemetery Compilation

I started this project in January of 2016 as the main focus during my internship with the Potsdam Public Museum. I am a history and math double major with a museum studies minor at SUNY Potsdam. Since I will be pursuing a degree and career in archives management, the Potsdam Public Museum was a perfect fit for an internship. I have always been fascinated with cemeteries and have had an interest to honor and study the past. When I met with director, Mimi VanDeusen, about interning with the Museum and told her of my interest in genealogy and cemeteries, she suggested that I could create this compilation that combined the two. This listings purpose is for genealogical research. It is our hope that it will make research easier by having records all in the same place rather than scattered.

I have compiled sources from the work of Anne Cady and Adam Barnes, records housed at the Potsdam Public Museum, the website Find A Grave, and have included some inferences of my own based on studying the records and burial groupings.

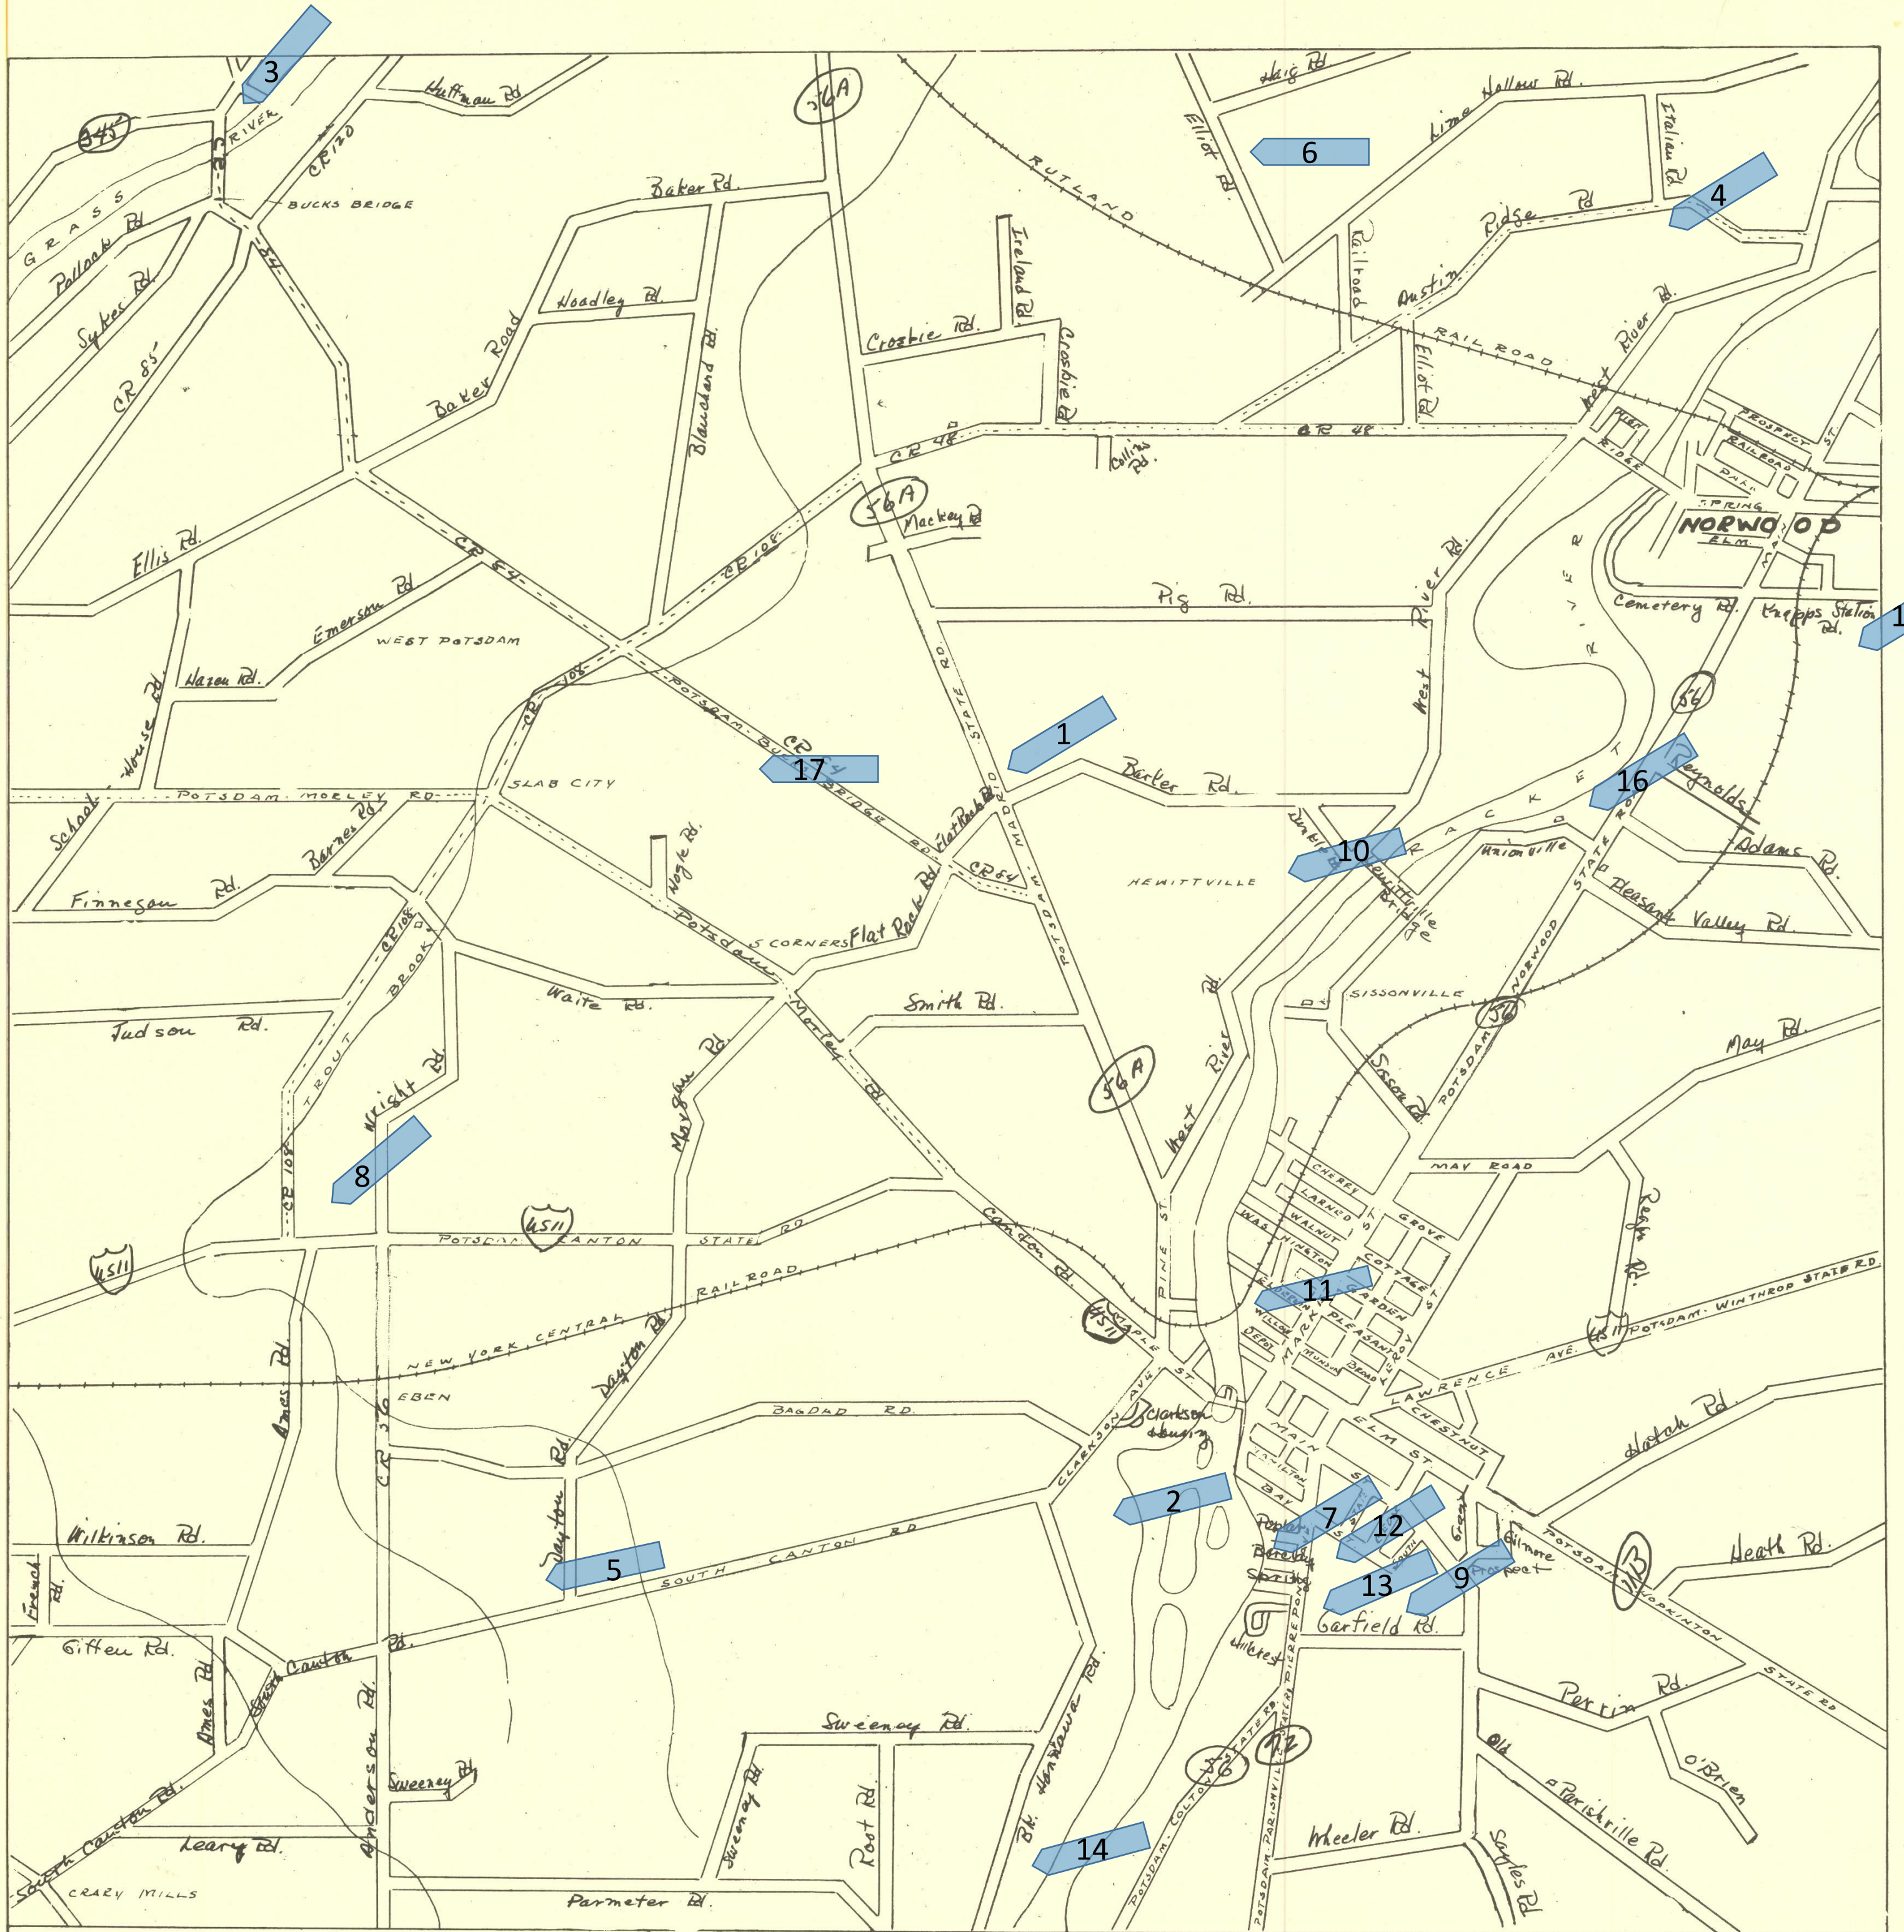

Possible Pit Falls:

As with any compiled source, it is worth noting that errors do exist. There are always possibilities of typographical errors, by myself or in the records that I consulted. Some of the stones may have had wrong information or they may have been unreadable. Also, the records are not complete. They only contain the graves that were present when the various records and record keepers performed their surveys. Therefore while a lot of graves are included, it is not complete.

In order to remain consistent throughout the source base, I made a number of decisions. When categorizing the names, I assumed that the second name of a man that followed his first name was his middle name. It could actually be his last name and he might have been buried with his wife's family, but for consistency I followed this rule. Similarly, it was difficult to distinguish a woman's middle and maiden name from each other. If there were multiple names, I separated them in the order of first, middle, and maiden name. Again, this may not be completely accurate, but is consistent throughout the listing. It is also possible that some of the listings that I gave maiden names aren't women at all.

A Key to the Potsdam Cemetery Listing:

1. The listing is color coded by source type as designated in the header of the listing.
2. For the Bayside listings, if the person's names are in italics it means there is a question if they are buried in Bayside. If names are in bold (parents' or spouse's names) it means they are also/ or going to be buried in Bayside.
3. Adam Barnes noted in his research guide that the graves with death dates before 1867 were moved from abandoned cemeteries in town. I noted the graves that existed in Liberty Knowles and Elderkin that I could find records for in the Potsdam Public Museum. It is possible that there are more.
4. If there was a discrepancy in dates or information, or if it was difficult to read, there are question marks and/ or question marks in parentheses. In some places, there may just be other options of information in parentheses.
5. For listings, specifically in New St. Mary's, that have the word "nee" in the comments, it is French for born and refers to the person's maiden name. I included this information in the maiden name column.
6. I have left Chuck Morgan's information, listed in red and provided in Anne Cady's records, in the notes column only. Some of the information seems misaligned and I did not want to incorporate wrong information into the wrong person or cause more confusion.

BAYSIDE CEMETERY LISTINGS

POTSDAM, NEW YORK

By: ADAM BARNES
December 2014

How this book is organized

This book is divided up into nine different sections. The first section is of course the grave listings. The second section I am calling Cenotaphs dealing with people whose names are on stones in the cemetery but are buried somewhere else. The third section is notes about some of the people with other information I found. The next six sections are list of veterans. I have a list for the Revolution and War of 1812, Civil War, World War One, World War 2, Korea and Vietnam

Please let us know if there is any incorrect information.

Remember some of the people who have stones in Bayside are still are alive so please do not use their information for anything other than genealogy.

This comprehensive listing of Bayside Cemetery data, compiled by Adam Barnes of Potsdam, New York, is in alphabetical order and goes through late 2014. At the back of the alphabetical listings are American War Veterans, starting with the American Revolution and going through the Vietnam War. Also in the back are more comprehensive notes about some graves that could not fit into the main listings. There is also a section about the Cenotaphs that are found throughout the cemetery.

This new Bayside Cemetery Listing is only to be used for genealogical research purposes. Any other use, including commercial use, must receive permission from Adam Barnes and the Potsdam Public Museum.

Bayside Cemetery

This project has been a labor of love since I started it in 2008. I was first asked to do a new listing of Bayside by John Austin when he was doing his Civil War Soldiers Project because the list we had was done in 1969 and there were many people missing and there were quite a few errors. I was pleased to be asked because Bayside Cemetery is one of my favorite places in Potsdam.

I added extra information that I found through Obituaries I found on the sites Northern New York Historic Newspapers and Old Fulton NY Postcards. I also used Ancestry.com, the records we have in the archives and the interment records at the Potsdam Public Museum.

I tried my best to copy right from the headstones but some of them were hard to read. There are two reasons for this: erosion of stones and need cleaning.

The sections are not labeled in the map that people can pick up and also the sections themselves do not have any markers telling what sections they are. The only map that is labeled is in the cemetery office.

I do not have the plot information for all the graves because I have not been able to gain access to the 1865-1877 and 1988-now records.

Bayside Cemetery Info

Bayside Cemetery was established in 1865. It is an example of the Rural Cemetery movement. Interment began in 1867. The graves with death dates before 1867 were moved from abandoned cemeteries in town.

Old listings

There are two other listings done of Bayside that I know of. The first one was done in 1969 and copies can be found at the County Historical Association and at the Potsdam Public Museum.

The Potsdam Public Museum also has a listing done in the 2000's. Both listings are by section and do not include Sections A and B.

The Potsdam Public Museum has a copy of the original internment records from 1877-1988. Some of the information is cut off because of the way it was copied. There is other information on the original records which I did not include in my notes like permit date, lot book page, and grave fee (a lot of them do not include it in the records).

A Key to the Bayside Cemetery Listing

1. If the person's name is in Italics it means there is a question if they are buried at Bayside.
2. If the Parents' and Spouse's name is bolded it means they are also/or going to be buried in Bayside
3. If there is a question on one of the numbers in a date I will put one of the numbers in ().
4. Most of the birth years are approximations based on their age of death
5. For the gravestones with just the first initials and I know the first name I put the rest of the letters from the first name in (). An example is M.A. Caswell, his first name is Melvin but his gravestone just says M.A. so I put down M(elvin) A.
6. If the name is in red it means their obituary or the original records that are at the Potsdam Museum says they are buried in Bayside or they are on the 1969 listing but I cannot find a stone for them.
7. If the name is in purple it means they buried in another cemetery but they have a stone or their name is on a stone in Bayside. To see where they are buried check the Cenotaphs list.
8. If their name is in orange it means they are buried in Potters Field

BAYSIDE CEMETERY CIVIL WAR MONUMENT AND GRAVESTONES

The monument is in Section C at the top of the hill. It is a zinc statue of a representative soldier on a stone base, which reads ERECTED 1903 – HOME AND COUNTRY. A separate marker of stone reads IN MEMORY OF MARSH POST NO. 214 G.A.R. 1861 – 1865. There is a low wall surrounding the area with 9 square markers. The two in front, near stone steps read G.A.R. 1888. Eleven gravestones are contained within the wall. They contain the following information, from left to right and front to back:

DOT Will Face A 'Grave' Situation

Sometimes it's just a question of knowing where the bodies are buried. At least that's the question officials of the state Department of Transportation had to answer before work could begin on the Potsdam Relief Route.

At the foot of Willow Street, near the Potsdam Feed and Coal Company, there was once a graveyard. It shows up on an 1863 map of the village, and is described variously as the "Village Cemetery" and the "Knowles Cemetery."

Also at the foot of Willow Street, where the Van Ness Company used to be and where the Depot building is now, the DOT will soon be digging for the Relief Route and for the relocation of the Depot.

The problem that could have arisen was this: what if the DOT's excavations turned up a long-forgotten grave?

According to Charles Lyman, regional director of transportation for the DOT, if a grave was found, certain legal procedures would have to be followed.

"We cannot desecrate a grave," Lyman said, "or at least we cannot proceed until proper arrangements have been made."

The DOT is required by law to make every effort to identify the remains, to make arrangements for disinterment and reburial in a proper location, Lyman said.

No Graves On Site

Fortunately for the DOT, their investigation has shown that no one was ever buried in the portion of the old cemetery where construction work will be undertaken, according to Lyman.

Lyman said that by tracing deeds recorded in the St. Lawrence County Clerk's office and checking historical records, the DOT determined that the cemetery had been divided into two sections. Bodies had been removed from the older section and no one had been buried in the newer section, Lyman said.

The deed for the cemetery land was traced back before the Feed and Coal Company was located on Willow Street, Lyman said, and while there had been graves near the Feed and Coal, there were none on the side of the cemetery closest to the railroad tracks.

Folklore Abounds

Local folklore abounds in stories, some with a basis in fact, and others that cannot be confirmed, about the old cemetery.

It is rumored that gardeners at the lower end of Willow Street have in years past unearthed the remains of headstones, and in the mid '60s, a backhoe did uncover a skeleton of a man in soldier's uniform, described as a Civil War soldier or a War of 1812 soldier.

Buttons from the Soldier's uniform are reputed to be kept somewhere in the village.

Headstones from the cemetery found their way into some unusual places. Paul LaShomb, an employee of the Courier and Freeman, remembers that some of the headstones were used as a surface to lay out pages of the newspaper, when the paper's offices were located where Morgan's Restaurant is now.

In any case, when the digging begins there may still be some surprises for the DOT and for village residents.

Village, Frats May Clash Again Over Beer Blasts

A proposal to ban fraternity-sorority sponsored beer blasts in the village may be under discussion at the next regular meeting of the Potsdam Village Board of Trustees May 5.

Mayor Ruth Garner told the Courier and Freeman Monday that she is waiting for information from Village Attorney Peter Lekki on how best to proceed with such a proposal. The mayor said she is personally inclined to favor a ban, following reports of in-

Hundreds of people walked through her yard on their way downtown or to their cars, Ms. Harris said, wearing away the grass in spots and trampling two bushes. At least one person climbed her porch railing and jumped off, she noted.

Ms. Harris also cited the use of trees on her property as toilet facilities, saying, "The most offensive act was the use of a row of blue spruces as toilet facilities, where many males urinated,

GRAVE UNCOVERED — Dave Garner, Potsdam Feed and Coal partner, examines the grave of an unknown man discovered last Monday while excavators dug a cellar at Potsdam Feed and Coal. The body was clad in the uniform of the Civil War era and it is believed he might have either been killed during the Civil War or was a veteran of the war and buried in uniform.

Civil War Vets Body Is Found By Excavators

The body of an unknown man was discovered early Monday morning in an excavation at Potsdam Feed and Coal Co., Willow Street, while workers dug a cellar there.

At first mention a great deal of alarm was sounded over the discovery, but contact with the Potsdam Police soon relieved the worries of the discoverers.

It was made note that the site of the Potsdam Feed and Coal Company was once a cemetery. In fact, the Knoll Cemetery was the only one in Potsdam for a great many years.

The cemetery was closed in or around 1901 and the bodies moved to Bayside Cemetery. However, many of the bodies could not be found for moving and regrettably some were left behind.

Potsdam Police Chief Howard King states that several times bones or other remains of skeletons have been found in the Feed and Coal area while digging.

The latest "find" proved to be a complete grave with the body of a man believed to have died about 100 years ago. The corpse was clothed in a military uniform of the Civil War era and it has been assumed the man could have been killed during the war or had been a Civil War veteran and was buried in uniform.

The remains were boxed and will be buried in Bayside Cemetery.

regulations regarding visitation and supervision. This makes Probation a mockery and creates a disrespect for the law, she said. She stated that St. Lawrence County is not even half-equipped for probation efficiency. The problem was referred to the Finance Comm. to be reported on after recess.

Welfare Pay Hike Asked

Twelve members of the Welfare staff — case-workers, etc., — were present to discuss their feeling that a raise in pay is in order for members of their department.

They cited their cooperation with the GHS Consultants and with the Moreland Commission, and stated that the morale of this department is at an all time low. Besides pay increases, they request three-week vacation and mileage of 9c per mile, personal leave from 3 to 5 days, and cumulative sick leave up to 125 days.

In the Welfare Department, also there is a constant turnover in staff personnel, caused — according to the reports presented — by low salary.

An increase in the base pay of 25 employees of the Sheriff and Correction Departments of $200 was voted, 19 yes and 10 no.

Question of increase for highway employees and for public health employees was referred to Finance Committee for discussion and recommendation.

The meeting then recessed at 1:15 until 2:30 p.m.

OLD DEED FOR CEMETERY

FORMERLY IN WILLOW STREET

Paper Signed by Liberty Knowles in 1843

Recalling the days when a cemetery was located on the site of the Potsdam Feed and Coal Company property at the foot of Willow St. is a deed written 104 years ago by Liberty P. Knowles, one of the early settlers of the village.

The deed was made to Carlos Collins, grandfather of Mrs. W. S. Remington, who recently came across the paper in a trunk at her home. The paper, only slightly yellowed with age, is in a good state of preservation.

The cemetery extended from Willow St. south to Depot St. near the present Van Ness Company warehouse. A number of years ago when the necessity for expansion of business became acute the bodies were removed to Bayside cemetery. During excavation work in recent years various evidences of the old cemetery have been uncovered, including head stones and grave markers.

The deed is worded as follows:

"For a good and valuable consideration, I, Liberty Knowles, do Give and Grant to Carlos Collins, and to his heirs and assigns forever, to be used as burying ground, and for no other purpose, Lot Number 123 seven by twenty one feet, as laid down on a map filed by me in the County Clerk's Office, July 26th, A. D., 1825. Also the right of passing to and from said lot to Market St. And I warrant my title good, and that I have a right to convey.

Witness my Hand and Seal.

Potsdam, Sept. 15, 1843

Marsh Women's Relief Corps. Sec. D Civil War Plot

- > Corps was formed to aid GAR soldiers and their families
- > First organized in Massachusetts and Ohio, the movement spread rapidly to other states.
- > Potsdam group was organized in 1886, taking its name from Lt. Col. Samuel Marsh (buried at Bayside). Marsh was the 1st. officer from Potsdam to die.
- > The group sewed and raised money to aid GAR soldiers and families.
- > In 1891, the local group began a fund to purchase a statue to honor Civil War soldiers on a plot set aside for the burial of soldiers in 1888.
- > Cost of the statue was $700.
- > The monument was dedicated in 1903.

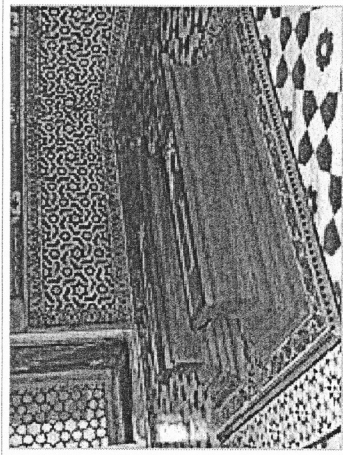

Cenotaph

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

A cenotaph is an "empty tomb" or a monument erected in honour of a person or group of people whose remains are elsewhere. It can also be the initial tomb for a person who has since been reinterred elsewhere. The word derives from the Greek: κενotάφιον = kenotaphion (kenos, one meaning being "empty", and taphos, "tomb"). Although the vast majority of cenotaphs are erected in honour of individuals, many noted cenotaphs are instead dedicated to the memories of groups of individuals, such as the lost soldiers of one country or empire.

History

Cenotaphs were common in the ancient world with many built in Ancient Egypt, Ancient Greece and across Northern Europe (in the shape of Neolithic barrows).

Sir Edwin Lutyens' cenotaph in London influenced the design of many other war memorials in Britain and the British sectors of the Western Front, as well as those in other Commonwealth nations.

The Church of Santa Engrácia, in Lisbon, Portugal, turned into a National Pantheon since 1966, holds six cenotaphs, namely to Luís de Camões, Pedro Álvares Cabral, Afonso de Albuquerque, Nuno Álvares Pereira, Vasco da Gama and Henry the Navigator.

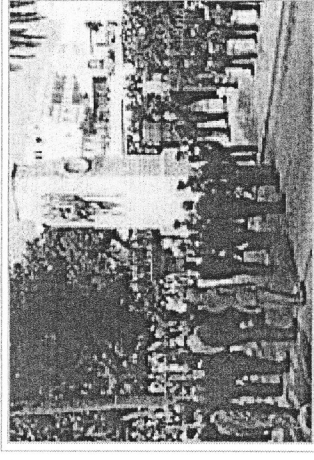

The Basilica di Santa Croce in Florence, Italy, contains a number of cenotaphs including one for Dante Alighieri, who is buried in Ravenna.

Regional

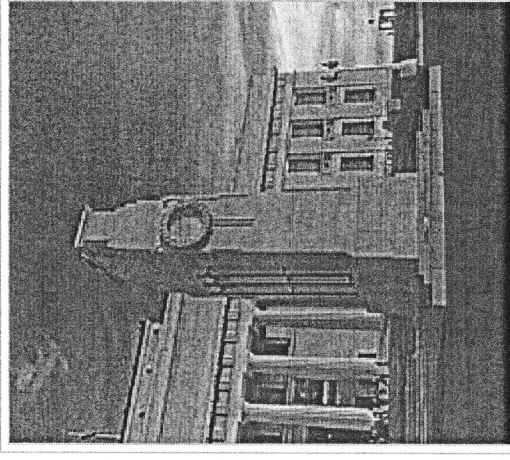

Asia

Among Asian countries, the Cenotaph in Central of Hong Kong Island, Hong Kong, the Cenotaph in Kuala Lumpur, the Cenotaph in Singapore and the Cenotaph in Colombo were erected as memorials to the war dead of World War I.

The concrete Memorial Cenotaph at the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Park was designed by Kenzo Tange to commemorate the 200,000 victims of the August 1945 atomic bomb attack.
